DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
2. Page 5, lines 9-12, no clear purpose for handle.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 4 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
5. Claims 4 and 10, term "second spring formed on one side of the second wall" is incorrect. Should be form on the third wall.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1, 3- 5, 6, 8, 9 -11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ju (U. S. Patent 6,530,788).

Art Unit: 2839

8. Regarding claims 1, 6, 8, Ju discloses a conductive terminal capable of being received in a terminal channel 100 defined in an insulative housing 200 and between an electronic component and a circuit board 40, having a contact portion 104 electrically connecting with the electronic component and a mounting portion (near to the lead line 102 electrically connecting with the circuit board 40 via a solder ball 11, comprising: a first wall 103, a second wall 101 connecting with the first wall in a certain angle and a third wall (near to the leadline 101) connecting with the second wall in a certain angle and opposite to the first wall, and the mounting portion comprising a horizontal portion 102 extending and bending from one end of the first wall toward the third wall, and an vertical portion (under the leadline 103) on the third wall and corresponding to the horizontal portion in a certain angle, the horizontal portion and the vertical portion adhering to the solder ball in two different directions so as to steadily locate the solder ball, see figure 6.

Regarding claims 3, 9, Ju discloses a gap (see the figures 6 and 11) is defined between the vertical portion and a side face of the horizontal portion near the vertical portion and when the solder bail melts, tin flows into the gap.

Regarding claims 5, 11, for Ju one end of the second wall is readable as forms a handle at 104. Claims 4 and 10, Ju discloses springs arms at 104, 105.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 2, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ju in view of McHugh (U. S. Patent 6,478,599).

Regarding claims 2 and 7, Ju discloses the claimed invention except for the horizontal portion defines a recess in the surface of connecting with the solder ball so as to receive the solder ball. McHugh discloses a recess at 211. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Ju to provide the recess as taught by McHugh so as to provide for holding the ball.
